ISI: EDUCATING FOR LIBERTY

Inspiring college students to discover, embrace, and advance the principles and virtues that make America free and prosperous

Since 1953 the Intercollegiate Studies Institute (ISI) has been teaching future leaders the timeless principles that make America free and prosperous—the core ideas behind the free market, the American Founding, and Western civilization that are rarely taught in the classroom.

Today ISI has an extensive nationwide network of the brightest conservative college students and professors, as well as alumni, donors, and subscribers who as a group are well above average in income and education.

ISI is a nonprofit, nonpartisan, tax-exempt educational organization. The Institute relies on the financial support of the general public—individuals, foundations, and corporations—and receives no funding or any other aid from any level of the government.

YEARBOOK

The ISI Yearbook is sent to thousands of ISI supporters. Once per year ISI mails this glossy, four-color, high-quality publication to its top donors. The 2022 Yearbook will highlight the “Top 20 Alumni Under 30,” demonstrating the impact ISI is having on this generation of young conservatives out in the world. It goes to 11,500 affluent, highly educated conservatives who care deeply about free markets, higher education, and the traditions of Western civilization.

The ISI donor, on average,

- is male
- is conservative
- has a career in business, investments, finance, or law
- is married
- has three or more children
- is in his sixties
- uses e-mail and the Internet
- reads the Wall Street Journal
- attends a Christian church
- attended a private college or university
- believes the greatest leaders in his lifetime are Ronald Reagan, Margaret Thatcher, and Pope John Paul II
